Seventh-day Adventist Church
One would think the month of July was visiting month and each Sabbath a special "Visitors Day" when they read the list in the register book as they enter the "Little Friendly Seventh-day Adventist Church on Court Street in Appomattox.
They came from far and near. First, Mrs. Norman Brown and baby daughter, Leora, from Pewee Valley Sanitarium and Hospital, Kentucky Mr. Leon Gaw a student at Columbia Union College, Takoma Park Wash. D. C. a native of Pennsylvania: Mr. and Mrs. John Vasko and son, John, of Crewe; Mrs. Howard Carwile, little son and her mother, Mrs. Tolley, members of a Richmond Seventh-day adventist Church; Mr. Bill Barney, of Martinsburg, W. V.a., a student of Emmanuel Missionary College in Berrien Springs, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bigelow, Colporteur Evangelists from Alexandria, Va Miss Katie Shelton, Prospect; Mr and Mrs. Clifford Hevener and family, Bonnie, David, Anita, and Helen, from Churchville, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Price and four children, members of the First Seventh-day Adventist Church in Richmond.
We were glad to have Mrs. Rena Austin, one of our faithful charter members with us most of the month. Mrs. Austin has been in declining health for some time and staying with her children, recently with her son, and under the doctor's care in Charlottesville.
We are glad to say Mrs. Anna Ward, our oldest and also a faithful charter member returned from Michigan last week, but very sorry to learn of the death of her daughter, Dot, who passed away about three weeks ago. Mrs. Ward received a message first of the month saying her daughter was critically ill. William E. Carpenter, pastor
